

Practice #3

**Indicate 2 products of the canine exocrine pancreas:

**Describe how gastric lavage is used when cats have eaten toxic plants:

**Some cats experience oliguria after eating toxic plants. What is oliguria?

**Determine the total pounds of blood in a 1800 pound horse.

**Provide the name of the renal hormone that promotes RBC production by bone marrow.

**The compound Melamine contains _____% nitrogen and is poisonous when added to dog food.

**List the 6 classes of nutrients in dog nutrition:

**What characteristics allow an animal to be classified as a hind-gut fermenter?

**Cats are unable to convert _____ into vitamin A.

**Name 2 dog breeds that easily develop canine bloat:

**If a dog has a total blood weight of 10.5 pounds, determine the total body weight (pounds) of the dog.

**Define gluconeogenesis:

**Relative to their required diets, humans and dogs are classified as: _____

**Canned dog food contains _____% moisture.

**When cleaning the skin for a venipuncture on a dog, alcohol that is _____% should be used.